Egypt Urges Rebellion by Syrian People

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Egyptian broadcasts called on the Syrian people to revolt today against their revolutionary regime. President Gamal Abdel Nasser declared the Syrians now were fighting to save their "unity."

Ignoring denials from Damascus that fighting against the rebel regime is taking place, Nasser declared in a speech at a student rally in Cairo: "The Syrian people who struggled against all forms of imperialism will never give the exploiters a chance to rule."

But Nasser conceded the setback in Syria might set off a reaction of "treason throughout the Arab nations." He blamed mistakes, conceit and trickery for the success of the revolt.

As Cairo opened up on his four-day-old regime that broke away from Nasser's United Arab Republic, Syrian Premier Mamoun Kuzbari moved swiftly to rid Syria of Nasser influence.

The Syrian government appeared firmly in control but Kuzbari was taking no chances. He banned all demonstrations, closed all schools and universities, extended the curfew, and outlawed the Syrian branch of Nasser's National Union party.

The U.A.R. president broke off diplomatic relations with Jordan and Turkey—the first two countries to recognize the Syrian rebel regime. He charged them with a "hostile attitude."

The move was interpreted in Cairo as a warning to other nations against recognizing the Damascus government.

But Nationalist China announced recognition Sunday night, and Damascus radio said Guatemala also had recognized the new regime.

The first batch of thousands of Egyptians ordered expelled from Syria arrived here Sunday night.

Cairo's powerful government-controlled radio stations called upon the Syrian people to rise up against the Kuzbari regime and "strike against reactionism."

Kuzbari told a delegation of trade unions in Damascus his government "extends an open hand to all Arab countries and to Egypt in particular." Damascus radio reported, "We are ready to establish Arab unity based on equality."

The dinner is for all workers who have signed up to help in the drive. The meal will be catered inside the empty pool by Aldom's Diner.

The dinners, costing $1.25 apiece, will be paid for by the United Fund. However, James Aldom, owner of the Diner, notified campaign co-chairmen Horace K. Schwartz and James T. Schaeffer that he will donate to the United Fund $1.25 for every dinner served at the kick-off rally.

Several unusual features and surprises are being planned for the United Fund workers who attend the rally.

Schwartz and Schaeffer promise that nothing about the 1961 United Fund drive will be conventional. They point out that no single drive in the city's history has ever brought in as much money as the workers are shooting for this year.

NATO Reluctant On U.S. Proposal

PARIS (AP)—The response of European members of the North Atlantic Treaty organization to the U.S. effort to increase the military capability of the Western defense system by 20 per cent appears to be spotty.

Most of the 14 military members of NATO are meeting the request for more firepower on the defense lines. But some nations are confronted by financial difficulties or internal political situations which make any additional buildup now difficult or impossible.

The goal for attaining the 20 per cent increase is set for 1962 or 1963. As it stands, the United States would absorb up to about 8 per cent of the over-all expansion.

The immediate aim is to make the 21 NATO-committed divisions actually battle-ready by building up to full strength and providing the necessary equipment. This is aside from the longer-range goal of about 30 divisions.

The build-up campaign is encountering some difficulties aside from finances and internal political problems.

Until the past few months, the people of Western Europe had been reading that the really important thing for defense was the nuclear weapon. Today the drive is for more foot soldiers, tanks and guns. It is confusing.

This new policy also has

U.S., Russia Inch Toward Accord on Talks

Prospects Brighter Of High-Level Parley on Berlin

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and the Soviet Union are reported inching toward agreement on negotiations that could lead to a compromise settlement of the Berlin crisis.

Prospects seemed brighter than 10 days ago, when Secretary of State Dean Rusk began a series of talks with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, that there will be an early high-level meeting to deal with the dispute over the divided German city.

Its probable form would be an East-West foreign ministers conference.

The next order of business is a continuation in Washington of the Rusk-Gromyko talks. The two met three times in New York in 10 days.

Agree Talks Were Useful

After the third meeting Saturday, Gromyko said, "We both probably have a deeper understanding of our position." U.S. officials privately agreed with Gromyko's estimates and said the talks had been useful.

Gromyko probably will come here Tuesday or Wednesday to see Rusk and to call on President Kennedy at the White House.

Presumably, by then Gromyko will have further instructions from Moscow. He might bring to Kennedy some informal message from Soviet Premier Khrushchev, although high administration informants say privately that Kennedy has no plan to send a personal letter to Khrushchev urging a Berlin settlement.

Must Persuade Allies

At the moment, Kennedy and Rusk are faced with the urgent task of persuading the United States' allies to go along with whatever formula can be evolved to settle the Berlin crisis.

Britain presents no problem. The British have been pressing for negotiations.

The United States will have to concentrate on winning the cooperation of France and West Germany. Officials of the two have been critical of the willingness of the United States and Britain to seek a compromise deal with the Soviet Union.

Rusk is known to have placed a great deal of emphasis on Western determination to fight for its basic rights in Berlin, if necessary. Nor will the Allies yield their right of access to Berlin across East German territory. However, they probably would be prepared to consider some practical recognition of East German authority over operation of the supply lines.

U.S. authorities believe it is now up to Khrushchev to decide whether he wants to risk war by pushing demands that infringe on the Western powers' interests or whether he will seek a compromise solution short of a military showdown.

Could Reject Candidate

Reds Submit Plan On New U.N. Chief

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union has announced a plan to name a temporary chief of the U.N. secretariat unhampered by a veto. But the candidate would have to meet with Soviet approval.

The proposal, previously reported by informed diplomats, was spelled out Sunday night in a statement from the Soviet delegation.

The General Assembly would choose a man to head the U.N. secretariat until April 1963, but he would have to work in cooperation with three deputies. None would have a veto. The assembly would make its selection on the recommendation of the Security Council.

The Soviets have a veto in the Security Council and could reject any candidate they disliked.

103 Stranded Americans To Return

SHANNON, Ireland (AP) — Stranded for five days after a nostalgic trip to Ireland that turned into a nightmare, 103 Americans today were promised a plane ride home.

The chartered airliner that was to pick them up at Shannon Airport last Wednesday finally arrived.

The Americans slept in chairs and on the carpeted floors of the air terminal—most of them out of money, some of them ill, babies wailing.

The group from the Irish-American Erin's Own Club of Chicago, who came to Ireland a month ago for a vacation, scraped up $15 Sunday night to send a cabled appeal "please help us" to President Kennedy.

Kevin Carty, club president, and the Rev. Edward Salmon, curator of St. Gabriel's church, Chicago, signed the cable.

Carty said the club paid $30,000 to charter the plane from the President Air Lines for the trip that brought many back to Ireland on their first visit in years.

Kay Mellor, a Chicago nurse, tended the sick among the vacationists that included seven children. Mrs. Mellor was worried she might lose her job for staying away too long.

In the airport lounge, the men who spent their fifth night on the floor there, stretched and looked gratefully at the plane—a DC76 of the same airline whose plane crashed in the Shannon Estuary with the loss of 83 lives Sept. 10.

The Chicagoans faced another day of waiting, however, for they were told takeoff is not until 7 p.m.—local time.

Warren Man, Lake Milton Woman Victims

2 Others Injured In Collision At Rts. 170, 14 Junction

A Lake Milton woman and a Warren man were killed and two other persons injured when the car in which they were riding collided with a tractor-trailer rig at the intersection of Rts. 14 and 170, about a half mile east of Unity, at 10:50 p.m. Sunday.

Dead are: Mrs. Irene O'Burke, 39, of RD 1, Lake Milton.

Kenneth W. Winland, 28, of Warren.

Raymond Allman, Jr., 27, of RD 1, Lake Milton, is in fairly good condition at Salem City Hospital with multiple lacerations of the face and a possible concussion.

James O'Burke, 43, husband of the woman who was killed, was released from the hospital after treatment for a scalp laceration.

According to the State Highway Patrol, Winland was driving the car which pulled off Rt. 170 into the path of the truck which was traveling west on Rt. 14. The truck driver, William Belk, 54, of Maumee, near Toledo, was not injured.

Tried To Avoid Crash

The truck crashed into the car broadside on the driver's side, spinning the auto around on the highway. The collision occurred near the center of the intersection. Authorities said the truck swerved sharply to the left in a vain effort to avoid the collision. The impact shattered the left side of the car.

Mrs. O'Burke was thrown out of the auto. She died instantly of a crushed skull and crushed chest. Dr. William A. Kolozsi, Columbiana County coroner, ruled.

Winland was pronounced dead on arrival at Salem City Hospital. He suffered a crushed chest, fractured spine and crushed pelvis.

The traffic fatalities were the 13th and 14th in Columbiana County this year.

The scene of last night's fatal accident* at the intersection of Rts. 14 and 170 is about a mile and a half north of East Palestine.

There are stop signs at the intersection for vehicles coming from Rt. 170 onto Rt. 14. The car involved in last night's fatal accident was headed north on Rt.

Spurned By Dancer, Man Shoots Self

CLEVELAND (AP)—Four persons were in jail today as a result of a man shooting himself in the right shoulder.

Police said Thomas A. Grugel, 33, of Cleveland admitted shooting himself Sunday after detectives found a .22-caliber revolver with one bullet fired under the seat of his car in the parking lot at Fairview Park Hospital.

Grugel would not say why he did it, but homicide detectives Stephen Hospodar and Clarence Jackman theorized:

"Grugel shot himself in the shoulder to win the attention of a cafe dancer. She had spurned him in a bar and he felt he had to do something to win her sympathy."

The dancer, a 26-year-old housewife, performed at a Lorain Avenue bar Saturday night, and her appearance was financed by a $100 payment to the bar owner by Grugel and two of his friends, Jackman said.

Jackman said Grugel became despondent over his failure to make a date with the dancer and shot himself to make her sorry for him.

Grugel was jailed and faces a possible charge of filing a false police report. He had told police he did not know how he was shot.

Held without charge for questioning were the dancer and two men who went to the central police station to inquire about Grugel. Police said the men might have been Grugel's companions Saturday night.

Here's Best Way to Break Through to the Outside

Knocking a hole in the wall or foundation of your house isn't as difficult as it may seem.

If you plan to install a kitchen exhaust fan or to vent a clothes dryer you will have to overcome whatever feelings of apprehension you may have and get right down to work.

New Stock Wood Windows Meet Architects' Needs

More and more architects today are specifying stock wood windows for their home designs. The reason? Modern windows of ponderosa pine are made in a wide range of styles and sizes to satisfy any type of architecture.

For families planning to build or remodel a home—with or without the aid of an architect—here are brief descriptions of the basic styles of wood windows available from building material dealers:

1. The double-hung window continues to be a favorite for houses of Colonial and traditional design, although equally compatible in contemporary homes. This familiar type is raised from the bottom and lowered from the top.

2. Especially versatile is the awning-hopper-casement type. Hardware and installation control the way it operates. Positioned as an awning window, it opens up and out, providing full ventilation and forming a "roof" that blocks out rain.

Installed to open down and in, this convertible unit becomes a hopper window, ideal for location near the floor because it blocks drafts. The same unit installed vertically becomes a casement window that opens to one side.

3. Sliding windows of ponderosa pine open easily and close tightly, and are often used for window walls to permit an unobstructed view.

4. Fixed sash units do not open. They are used where the view is good but ventilation unnecessary.

As long as the opening is a small one you can handle it even if you haven't had much experience. Openings for new doors or windows are best left to professionals. These will require extra framing and bracing.

If you are going through the kitchen wall, first mark the size and shape of the opening. Try to place it between wall studs. Also, don't locate it right above or below an electrical outlet or you are likely to run into the wires.

Plaster Walls

If the wall is plastered, cover the area right around the opening with masking tape to prevent cracking. Then with a chisel and hammer chop right through the plaster.

If you have a plasterboard wall, drill a hole first and then cut away the material with a keyhole saw. The small hole is necessary to start sawing.

Beneath the plaster you will find wood lath. Cut these strips with the keyhole saw.

Drill to Outside

Once the hole is completed on the inside, drill a hole through the wall to the outside. The hole will provide a starting point for the keyhole saw.

If the outside wall is brick you will have to do some careful measuring to locate the opening on the outside. The process from that point is the same as cutting a hole in a brick or block foundation.

Cutting through brick or block requires a hammer and a heavy cold chisel. Although you may have to go through six or eight inches of wall, once the first brick is removed the rest is relatively easy.

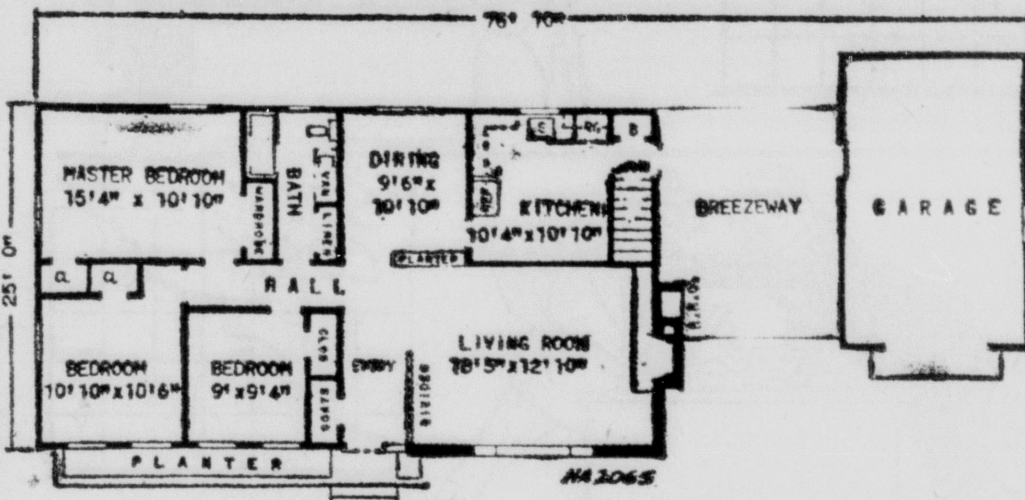

On a brick wall, start by breaking one brick. Keep working with hammer and chisel until the entire brick is removed. The bricks around it can be removed by working on the mortar joints. Most of the bricks will come out whole.

Chisel Out

Remember that along the edges you may not want to remove an entire brick. Establish a line for the opening. Bricks in alternate rows will be divided by the line. These can be split with a chisel. Building blocks—cinder or concrete—should be tapped to locate a hollow spot. Hit that spot with your hammer a few times and the block will break. The chisel will remove the rest of it. Follow mortar lines for the other blocks.

Smooth Job

Special plates and collars with fans and vent kits will hide ragged edges. The draft hood on the outside wall used in connection with a vent kit should be completely sealed with mortar. Packing insulation around the pipe in the hole—especially in the case of dryer vents—will minimize condensation.

BUDGET LUXURY — Here's an economy ranch-type home that enjoys a luxury layout. There are three bedrooms in the six room house and an added breezeway and garage give it an overall look of spaciousness. The architect is Herbert Struppman, Room 75, 117 West 48th St., New York 36, N. Y., and the plan is HA2065.

Door Choice Vital Step In Building

A door is more than a slab of wood separating two rooms. It's an important part of the decor and it's also a hard-working household necessity that must perform its job well for years.

You can change exterior and interior color schemes, reupholster and rearrange the furniture, and even knock a wall out to enlarge a room. But once the doors are hung, you're not apt to replace them.

It's vital, then, for the family planning to build or remodel a house to choose doors that are both attractive and durable. This is one reason more and more architects, home developers, and interior decorators increasingly are specifying wood panel and louver doors for homes, inside and out.

Today's panel doors of ponderosa pine come in a wide variety of designs to give beauty and durability to all styles of homes. Exact copies of Early American doors are especially important to Colonial design, but many designers find them, as well as other styles of wood panel and louver doors, right for contemporary architecture, too.

New On The Market

What's new on the market?

The product—a system of reducing room-to-room transmission of sound through the use of so-called sound control blankets which are installed, back to back, between studs before dry wall or lath-and-plaster is applied. The blankets are stapled only at the top and bottom and hang limp within stud cavities.

The manufacturer's claim—that, when properly installed, including the use of vertical sound blankets will reduce the sound level approximately 83 per cent compared with a conventional wall.

The product—an electric marking tool which identifies property to prevent loss or theft. The markings can be used on tools, gardening equipment, household articles, school supplies, cameras and sports equipment.

The manufacturer's claim—that the instrument can be used

Analyze Furniture Before You Begin Refinishing Task

Furniture refinishing is a fun project, especially when you've acquired some "fabulous buy," and see its beauty restored little by little.

A comfortable, well-ventilated area is helpful to the success of the refinishing project. A barn or garage is ideal, but a spot outdoors in cooler weather eliminates mess and hazards of inflammable materials.

Before you begin refinishing furniture, analyze it. Will it stand stress and strain when you have repaired it? This is especially true of chairs.

ONE CAN DO A GOOD upholstery job — strengthening springs, padding with cotton, bur-lapping. But leg and rung repair is another matter. A loose rung may be beyond repair by an amateur, having already been shaved by the previous owner, also an amateur, perhaps.

It is best to seek out a chair repairer at the start, and for a small amount expended, you could have a good chair. If the leg is broken, it will surely require the help of an experienced worker as a new leg may be required and special refinishing problems may be encountered.

More luck can be anticipated in the repair of rockers, although problems occur with loose spindles as in the case of Boston rockers, but these are usually easier to handle than chair rungs.

BUREAUS, DESKS, wash stands, dry sinks, end tables, tavern tables, offer greater rewards to the refinisher. Large flat areas give some indication that work is progressing, even though a little snag will occur here and there in coping with veneer or ornamentation.

The first step is to remove the old stain or paint with paint or varnish remover. When the old finish has loosened, it should be removed with a cloth and scraped gently with a tool designed for the purpose. An alcohol varnish cutter or paint solvent should be applied to clean the piece. (Carving may be cleaned with complex brushes, tooth brushes, pipe cleaners, beer can openers are handy for hard-to-get-at corners and moldings.)

STEEL WOOL IS RUBBED over the entire piece until you have reached the true surface of the wood. A coat of shellac is applied and when dry rubbed down with steel wool. Seven days and seven nights is the usual formula on shellac and steel wool alternating between the two until you have a glossy steel-like surface. After the surface seems just right, dull the shine by applying a coat of linseed oil mixed with powdered rottenstone.

Nicks and gouges should be repaired before beginning the project, and any number of methods may be used. Scratches may be taken out by applying a wet blotter over the scratch, and a steam iron over that. A hole may be filled with a mixture of sawdust and glue.

SOME PROFESSIONALS make sawdust of the same kind of wood. Large gouges may be mended by inserting small slivers of wood taken from under sections of the furniture piece and carefully sized and inserted into gouges. When glue is dried, the area is sanded. There is a certain charm associated with the aged appearance of a gouged piece of furniture with which many purist refinishers are reluctant to part.

If you have the patience, you can have the joy of seeing your own acquisition restored before your eyes. A lovely small roll-top desk bought recently for $10 was refinished at home for $4.47. The walnut desk, 100-years-old with all the advantages of modern requirements could bring a good price. But who would sell it—now!

Building Permits

Building permits for a new dairy store and a one-room insurance building to be constructed on E. State St. between Woodland and Washington Avenues were issued this week by F. S. Barckhoff, city zoning officer.

Both permits were obtained by Donald Hole, a contractor. The $12,000 Lawson dairy store is to be located at 1125 E. State and the $9,000 insurance building at 1131 E. State. Other permits were issued during the past week to the following:

Willard Albertsen, to build double garage at 441 N. Union Ave., $1,200.
Edward Falk, to repair porch at 760 Newgarden Ave., $100.
James Adams, to repair chimney at 271 S. Howard, $100.
George Bergman, to enclose patio and build room over it at 584 S. Madison Ave., $1,000.

Plenty of Room to Park

Beginning today some cities may be envious of Salem's downtown parking facilities.

The opening of the third municipal off-street parking lot, with its 170 metered stalls, brings to 238 the total number of automobiles that can be accommodated on the three lots.

All are strategically situated for the convenience of the shoppers, the new one being on E. Pershing St. between Penn and South Lundy; another at the corner of S. Ellsworth and Pershing, and the original lot at the old city hall site on E. State St. near Ellsworth.

The Salem Retail Merchants Division of the Chamber of Commerce and City Council have invested funds to provide for these facilities, with full knowledge that adequate parking space is a necessity in these days when shopping centers are riding a momentary wave of popularity. More than one person has discovered, however, that goods are no better and no cheaper at the plazas and it takes more gas to get there.

Salem's additional parking facilities are expected to make the downtown area even more popular as a shopping center. It's no secret that thousands of persons come to Salem regularly to shop, to work and to seek entertainment. Customer cards and Chamber of Commerce and newspaper survey statistics bear this out.

Local church membership rolls include many out-of-towners. Many from other communities attend adult day and night trades and commercial classes here.

Salem is, always has been, and probably always will be an ideal city with much to offer its residents and its neighbors. Founded by friendly Quakers, 155 years ago, the community's spirit of friendliness and industrial growth still is much in evidence.

But No Pushing, Please

Secretary of State Rusk and U.S.S.R. Foreign Minister Gromyko did not talk for more than four hours last Thursday without saying something.

It is significant that by Saturday it was a well-informed guess in high-level guessing circles that they talked about an "accommodation" in Berlin.

The "accommodation" would be an agreement between the United States and the Soviet Union, agreed to by other interested parties, notably Britain and France, to get down to brass tacks on specific problems.

This would mean each side would trade something for something. There would be a quid pro quo settlement, the kind that used to be the basis of successful diplomacy.

It would mean that for the time being neither side would rattle a rocket or wave a flag.

The prospect was exciting and a little discouraging.

UNFORTUNATELY the Berlin issue has outgrown its original proportions as a problem of international relations and turned into a test of national wills.

Any appearance of backing down will be difficult, and any damaging concession will be out of the question.

For example, every reasonable person could see why East Berlin could not be the unrestricted point of exodus for dissatisfied East Germans indefinitely, yet when the exodus was stopped without military action from West Berlin accusations were thrown at the United States for dereliction of international duty.

This was unreasonable, especially when the accusations came from Germans, who have come close to forgetting that they sustained military defeat at the hands of both the United States and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics and are in no position to play off their conquerors against each other for the benefit of their capital city.

An "accommodation," if one is sought, will be difficult. The United States will not be pushed, and it is a safe bet the Kremlin will use pushing tactics.

THE UNITED STATES and its allies cannot grant anything that would be appeasement, but almost anything will be construed as appeasement by irreconcilables.

There is one area, however, in which give-and-take would be possible without appeasement. The Western Allies owe nothing to the Germans. Russia owes nothing to the Germans.

Sixteen years after World War II ended in Europe have blurred this fact. Americans have forgotten what kind of a settlement would have been made if the Berlin issue had been settled permanently in 1945, as in fact it was settled provisionally by leaving the city to the anger of the Russians who occupied it.

Continued Cool

Rhapsodies about the end of summer are mostly crowded out by laments about the melancholy days. But the handful of rhapsodists and the mob of melancholists can get together on one thing. They both like that cryptic phrase of the weatherman—Continued Cool.

There finally comes a time when summer humidity, crawling and buzzing insects, mold on the furniture, mustiness in the basement, soggy clothing, bathroom mirrors dripping with moisture and foreheads oozing perspiration are too much to pay for long hours of daylight, outdoor living, gardening, summer vacationing and straight-overhead sunlight.

Deep inside the most summer-fervid hearts there come longings for crisp nights, wine-aided days, autumn-painted leaves, chill that clears the humidity-befogged sinuses and deep sleep that restores fagged minds.

On such a day, to note that the weatherman sees Continued Cool is to be given a guarantee of euphoria good through Indian Summer, which will be along presently, though never so soon as is proclaimed by careless people who forget that Indian Summer should be preceded by Squaw Winter, an interval during which enough snow falls to cover the ground.

None of these went for the water ski fad. . . . (However I'm betting they wish they had.)

SEN. MIKE MANSFIELD proposes that U.N. Nehru be named Secretary General of U.N. (Oh, come now, there must be an easier way to see that our side gets the worst of it.)

Fire Commissioner Cavanaugh of New York, may be next Democratic county chairman. This reflects political feeling that after the recent primary its important to have a man around who can provide a net and plenty of ladders.

Tape recordings instead of guided tours are now used at New York zoo to describe animals. Public approves, but confused animals seem to be asking "Why weren't we consulted about this?"

Eva B. Adams has been made director of the U.S. Mint. She supervises the making of all coins and is boss in transportation and storage of gold and silver bullion. At first thought the idea of woman as boss of mint is disturbing, especially to those having wives who live expensively, especially in the mint season. But as a matter of fact a woman can be deeply concerned about money and, when in charge, pretty thrifty.

Once Over

Mrs. John F. Kennedy rode on water skis behind a yacht, at times balancing on one foot, said a recent Hyanis Post news item. The First Lady has youth, beauty, vitality, grace and a perfectly excusable love of good clean fun. There is no reason why she shouldn't ski. But it moved us to a little flippancy in reviewing past and present:

Mrs. Martha Washington folks were warm, But she never had any skiing form.

Mrs. John Adams — (Abigail) — Never cruised on a plywood rail.

Dolly Madison strove to please . . . . But never called for water skis.

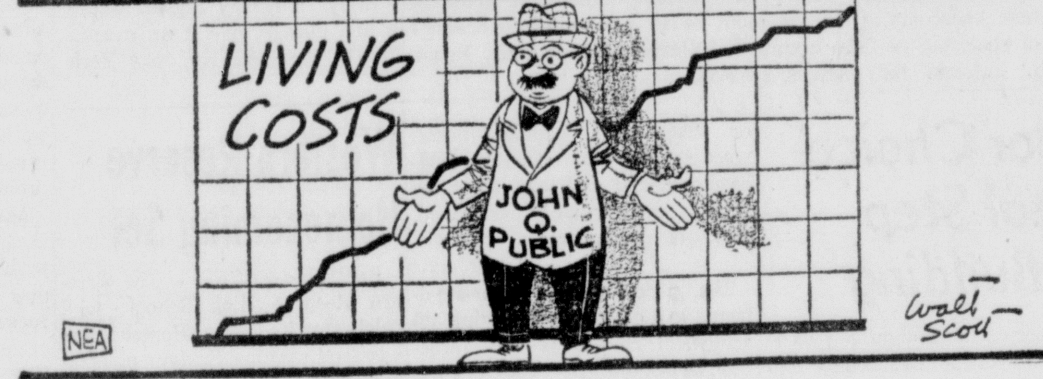

Mrs. Coolidge — remember Grace? On skis was not played "straight and place."

A help was Mrs. Teddy R. . . . No cruiser towed her near or far.

Eleanor's travels were of note But not by rope, behind a boat!

Mamie could be rather cute — But never exclaimed "Look, I like ONE FOOT!"

So . . .

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla.

I made myself a promise exactly a year ago when federal probes revealed that a small pipefitters local had run through some $735,000. Some of this money went for two air-planes, a 14-foot boat, an outboard motor, sundry hunting and fishing equipment, duck stamps, rifles, pump guns, hunting pants and coats, of course. You can't follow the sport of kings without the pants matching during the shoot.

It was Sen. McClellan's newest committee which had investigated this local, 706 of El Dorado, Ark. Exactly a year ago he issued the final report on this outfit. It was then that I promised myself to search out exactly what happens after the excitement and the spotlight shift elsewhere. Does the probe do any good?

THIS LOCAL, controlled by a couple of brothers, Earl and Ermon Griffin, had a long history of, shall we say, extravagance. From 1952 to 1958 this local collected more than $735,000. It spent more than $631,000. The air-planes alone cost $71,880.39. I don't know how much the hunting pants cost — but we do know that no full financial records were given the membership. We also know that by 1960 — exactly one year ago, the union had less than $10,000 in its treasury.

That's not all. There is the slight matter of a mysteriously missing $111,444.22. Sen. McClellan said in his report to Congress that the money had disappeared, though it had been collected by the local. This case was of special interest to the senator for it developed out of the building of the $82 million Pine Bluff Federal Arsenal in his home state of Arkansas.

This project went up some time ago. But that did not lessen McClellan's interest in the case.

To construct such an arsenal the government contractors needed considerable manpower — yet no one could be hired without being referred by the Griffin brothers' local.

THUS NO MAN could work on the arsenal unless he paid the Griffin boys' union a special fee, according to the records which turned up in the probe.

If a man worked 16 hours-a-week or more, he had to pay $3.50-a-week into the Local 706 kitty. If a man could get only 8 to 16 hours work, he paid the union $1.50 a week.

This meant that many of the men were paying at the rate of $182 a year for the privilege of earning their daily bread.

McClellan said in his report that this violated the federal anti-kickback law. Furthermore, the National Plumbers and Pipefitters constitution forbids such private taxation. And, McClellan discovered that the men paid the fee under "duress."

What's more, most of these men did not get a receipt for their money. The instructions from Earl Griffin to the chief shop steward on the job, Alfred "Red" Yocom, were that only the small band of original members of Local 706 were to get receipts.

THE OTHERS merely paid their forced assessment.

And when Griffin got the money from Yocom, the latter got no receipt from the union chief. This meant that there were no substantial records for scores of thousands of dollars.

On this particular job, some $214,976 was collected. But only $103,531.78 was deposited in a bank. This left a total of $111,444.22 for which there was no satisfactory accounting.

"Mr. Griffin," said Sen. McClellan, "the responsible agent for the collection of this money, has failed to produce any records and has failed to account for and explain what happened to this sum of $111,444.22 which was collected."

To add insult to injury, it took the committee investigators 11 months to bring Griffin in with the available books. When he did face the committee, in private session, he said he had been looking for the books for all that time but had located them just an hour before he departed for Washington.

When the investigation was over — exactly a year ago, Sen. McClellan said:

"The subcommittee . . . finds that these union officials who breached their fiduciary responsibility should not be permitted to hold union office or to be entrusted with union funds."

So I kept my promise to myself and checked to see what happened. You guessed right — nothing!

EARL GRIFFIN now is general organizer for the International Plumbers and Steamfitters Union for most of this southwest region.

Brother Ermon Griffin now is business manager and secretary-treasurer of Local 706 over in El Dorado.

That's what happens to old probes. They fade away. But those who were probed, don't. They just go grousing about — complaining about Sen. McClellan and how unfair he is.

Unfair to whom, by the way?

Nixon's Decision

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Running for Governor Termed Shrewd Move

Former Vice President Nixon seems to be a fatalist in politics—he thinks that what is destined to happen will happen. So he virtually rules himself out of the presidential race for 1964 but leaves open the prospect of becoming a candidate for the presidential nomination in 1968. Seven years is a long way off, but perhaps not to a man now 48.

What were Mr. Nixon's reasons? He probably doesn't know himself exactly why he shuns 1964, but, as an experienced politician, he does know that, if President Kennedy is lucky enough to have a good economic situation throughout the country in 1964 and if the nation is at peace, the incumbent administration will be hard to beat and in all probability will win re-election.

Also, if the nation is at war in 1964, it would obviously be considered unwise to "change horses in midstream."

So Mr. Nixon weighed all the arguments against going out for the Republican nomination for governor of California, including the possibility that it would take him out of the presidential race in 1964, and decided that he would be just as well off anyway by skipping the next presidential contest.

For one thing, the former vice president's two principal rivals for the Republican presidential nomination in 1964 — Sen. Goldwater of Arizona and Gov. Rockefeller of New York — would have to bear the brunt of the campaigning between now and then and participate actively in the presidential-primary contests in various states. Also, if Gov. Rockefeller doesn't win his own re-election campaign next year in New York State, he will be out of the 1964 presidential race. If, however, he wins by a larger margin than he did in 1958, he will have enhanced his political stature nationally.

THERE ALWAYS IS the outside chance that, while refusing to be an active candidate for the Republican presidential nomination in 1964, Mr. Nixon will be "drafted." This seems remote.

Gov. Rockefeller will be regarded as the front runner from now on, and the battle will be between the more or less "conservative" Sen. Goldwater and the more or less "liberal" Gov. Rockefeller.

As the politicians say, one will knock the other one off, or else there will be such a deadlock between the forces behind the two men that the middle-of-the-road Nixon may be chosen as a compromise.

He will not have to commit himself in presidential-primary contests.

Either way one looks at it, Mr. Nixon's decision to run for governor is a shrewd move and not unknown in the annals of presidential politics.

The former vice president will flatly promise the people of California in his coming campaign for governor, that, if elected in 1962, he will serve out his full four-year term, which goes beyond 1964 to 1966.

He will be pressed again and again by the newsmen to say whether he will accept a "draft" as the Republican presidential nominee in 1964.

HE CAN ANSWER that by saying he will cross that bridge when he comes to it — or he can argue, as Justice Charles Evans Hughes of the Supreme Court did for several months in advance of the 1916 Republican convention, that he doesn't believe it is even remotely probable. It turned out the other way then.

So it is conceivable that Richard Nixon could be the choice of his party in 1964. It is also conceivable that Gov. Rockefeller might be nominated and elected in 1964, which would mean that Mr. Nixon had gambled and lost for 1964 and probably for 1968, too.

If, however, President Kennedy is re-elected, Mr. Nixon could remain as governor of California for two years during the second Kennedy term, and then could campaign the country and rally his party for the 1968 battle.

If, of course, Mr. Nixon loses the gubernatorial fight in 1962, he will have virtually eliminated himself as a potential presidential candidate.

But, again, Richard Nixon is the kind of man who blandly says: "What is to be will be, and there's nothing much we can do about it."

ANYONE who has come within such a small number of votes of winning the presidency will never give up hope of being more successful "next time."

Presonalities and popularity or skill in politics have relatively little to do with the winning of an election to the presidency. It depends mostly on the condition of the country at the time the election is held.

If economic conditions are good and there is an absence of any emotional issues, such as corruption or bad conduct of foreign policy, the party in power usually wins.

If business conditions are bad and unemployment and discontent are widespread or if foreign policy has been mismanaged, it doesn't much matter who is chosen as the opposition party candidate — the incumbent party will usually be defeated.

That's the history, in brief, of American politics.

Purely Personal

By TRUMAN TWILL

If you never saw it before, one of the strangest sights of nature is the transformation from perpendicular to horizontal planes when autumn fog spreads over the landscape in evenly spaced layers.

I keep getting postage-free letters from Sen. Strom Thurmond, an unreconstructed Rebel from South Carolina, urging me as a newspaperman to go along with his preaching that I owe allegiance to all government people who call themselves anti-Communists, no matter what kind of hanky-panky they may be carrying on behind this protective anti-Red coloration. I wish Strom and his backers would lick their own stamps when they insult my intelligence.

Nothing I know of sounds half as old as "veteran spelunkers," a phrase favored by newspaper reporters for describing people who explores caves. I suppose any spelunker who keeps finding his way out automatically becomes a veteran, at that.

This isn't the kind of thing a grown man is supposed to do, but I like to paddle around in the early morning in the dew — not barefoot entirely but in low-cut, tattered slippers that admit plenty of moisture.

The rhubarb over Roger Maris's home-run total bugged me because posterity won't care how many games the young man played in or how many games Babe Ruth played in, or Jimmy Foxx, Hank Greenberg, or any of the other sluggers — only how many four-basers they rapped in a season.

I have been screaming against the Ku Klux Klan ever since it tried to terrorize my home town when I was a kid, but I still have to stop to think before calling it by name, because I always want to call it "Klu Kux Klan."

Political campaigning is an infantile and emotional way to carry on a deadly serious responsibility. But it's the way it is because campaigners believe voters like it — and I'm afraid they're right. Most voters are political thinking, and politicians must make their appeal to the majority.

It's silly when you think about it that Freedom Riders should be blamed by critics like David Lawrence for putting on a demonstration when all they did was to tempt segregationists to put on demonstrations of contempt for the U.S. Constitution.

I am impressed by what I think of as the evolution of the "compartment business," meaning the practice of packing huge containers full of things, then transporting the containers intact — part way on rubber tires on highways, part way on steel wheels on railroads and, eventually, by ship and airplane, too.

The only thing I know for sure about the threats to freedom that are never-ending for those who remain vigilant is that the kind of people who try to destroy freedom are cute enough to claim that what they are about to do is good for the country — not good for you, sweetheart, but for your country. That's supposed to settle everything.

Top Court Has Huge Docket

Record 1,050 Cases Await Consideration

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court opens a new fall term today, its dockets crowded with an all-time high of 1,050 cases.

Most are appeals involving racial issues, business regulations, labor relations and state and federal powers. Significant decisions are certain to come in this term.

The court last met June 19 before recessing for the summer. In a statement made in connection with opening of the new term, Chief Justice Earl Warren called on the federal judiciary to meet its "great responsibility" to relieve congestion of cases in U.S. courts.

Warren also expressed gratitude that Congress had responded to pleas for more federal court judges. A bill creating 73 new federal judgeships was passed by Congress May 4.

Warren conceded that congestion in lower federal courts could not be relieved overnight.

"In many of the districts and circuits," he said, "there are no quarters for the new judges, and there are other problems that must be solved before they can function adequately."

must be solved before they can function adequately."

In his eight years as chief justice, Warren has seen a steady rise in the number of appeals taken to the highest tribunal. He and his associates have managed, however, to keep the Supreme Court current in its work.

Before going on summer vacation the nine justices agreed to hear arguments on 73 appeals filed late in the 1960-61 term. Among these, the court will take up for the first time legal issues raised by sit-in demonstrations in the South.

Appeals by 16 Negroes who got jail sentences after lunch counter sit-in demonstrations in Baton Rouge, La., will be heard the week of Oct. 16.

Counsel for the Negroes said the appeals present issues posed by numerous similar demonstrations by thousands of students and others throughout the country. The demonstrations have resulted in desegregation in some instances and in many pending cases in state and federal courts.

First case scheduled for argument when the court begins hearings next Monday is the long-pending issue whether federal tribunals may order reapportionment of state legislative districts.

A group of Tennessee voters appealed to the high tribunal to rule that the federal judiciary may direct such redistricting and thus halt asserted discrimination against city electors by rural dominated state legislatures.

JFK Faces Busy Week In Washington

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—President Kennedy comes to the end of his vacation today and heads back to Washington in his search for new light on the prospects of peace.

Kennedy faces a busy week in the capital including a private meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Gromyko is due in Washington Tuesday or Wednesday. It was understood that Kennedy would hold his exchange with Gromyko to the same informal tone that Secretary of State Dean Rusk has maintained in seeking solid ground for an East-West meeting, at the foreign ministers' level or higher.

Kennedy expected to take off for Washington from nearby Quonset Naval Air Station at 3:45 p.m. EDT.

Work on Campaign Begun by Nixon

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP)—Richard M. Nixon is back in California today to start putting together what he envisions as the most intensive political campaign in state history.

He said he is out to win the governorship with the full intention of serving out the four-year term.

Nixon, who flew here to address the Western Republican Conference Saturday night, was asked repeatedly by newsmen whether he would seek the presidency again in 1964 and whether he would accept a draft.

The former vice president replied he would not be a candidate for president in 1964, adding "it's implicit that I intend to serve the people of California as governor from 1962 to 1966."

As to whether he could be drafted, he said "the answer is no."

Nixon challenged former Republican Gov. Goodwin J. Knight to back up charges that he was offered a political deal to stay out of the gubernatorial race. He denied knowledge of any such offer.

Nixon said he plans to start his active campaign around the first of February. He intends to go into every city, county and town, he said, and after the primary he'll campaign for every Republican nominee in the state.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Ships and aircraft of the United States and Canada take to the sea and air today to test their might in hunting down enemy submarines.

The exercise, named Seashell, will last two weeks. It will range from the warm, calm waters off southern California to the cold, often stormy northern Pacific.

More than 10,000 men are participating. One hunter-killer group is led by the antisubmarine aircraft carrier USS Bennington.

The exercise is not only a test but will serve, the Navy said, to strengthen the combined U.S.-Canadian capability to meet any undersea threat against the West Coast of North America.

Seabee Divisions Formed Into 1 Unit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Twelve Navy Seabee divisions from Ohio and Western Pennsylvania have been formed into Mobile Construction Battalion 20. They will operate for the first time as a unit in two weeks of training at Davisville, R. I., starting Oct. 22.

Representatives of the 12 reserve outfits got a preliminary briefing here Sunday on their formation into a unit of more useable size if needed in a national emergency.

The two-week training for 350 to 365 reservists will be the first of its kind in the Fourth Naval District, headquarters in Philadelphia. It is designed to make the battalion ready to put to sea on three days' notice and operate effectively.

Before this, the Seabee reservists' training was mostly on an individual or division level.

The Seabees are Navy construction men who land on enemy territory shortly after the first combat troops and set up airfields, supply depots and other facilities necessary to support the troops.

The nine Ohio divisions represented at Sunday's meeting were 4-16 of Cincinnati, 4-17 and 4-18 of Cleveland, 4-19 of Columbus, 4-20 of Youngstown, 4-21 of Toledo, 4-23 of Mansfield, 4-24 of Dayton, and 4-25 of Akron, Pennsylvania units represented were 4-4 in Pittsburgh, 4-9 in Erie and 4-11 in McKeesport.

170 when it reached the intersection.

Although a light rain was falling at the time of the accident, visibility at the intersection is usually good since the location is in a flat, wide-open area.

The O'Burkes formerly lived in the East Palestine suburb of New Liberty. They moved from East Palestine six years ago after their home there burned down.

Mrs. O'Burke's body was taken to the James Funeral Home in Newton Falls.

3 Other Accidents

In another accident on Rt. 170 Sunday at 5:30 p.m., John V. Young, 17, of East Palestine, escaped injury although his car was damaged considerably when it went off the highway and struck an embankment three miles south of East Palestine.

The Patrol said Young was headed south on Rt. 170 when he lost control of his car on a curve, struck an embankment on the left side of the highway, then rolled back onto the road. The driver was cited to juvenile court by the Patrol for driving at a speed excessive for road and weather conditions.

Minor damage resulted when cars operated by Paul W. Reeder, 59, of RD 1, Hanoverton, and Samuel Costen, 35, of North Canton, collided on Rt. 172, a mile and a half west of Rt. 9, near New Garden, at 6 p.m. Sunday.

According to the Patrol, Reeder had just backed out of a private drive and started moving west on Rt. 172 when Costen, also headed west, was unable to get completely stopped and struck the rear of the Hanoverton man's vehicle.

Ward Graesel, 30, of Lisbon, was cited for leaving the scene of an accident on Rt. 30, about four miles west of Lisbon, early Sunday night. Graesel's car was dislodged with another auto operated by Frank Chestnut, 41, of RD 4, Lisbon, the Patrol reported. Damage to the vehicles was light.

gram. This is because not every potentially fine practical nurse can afford the year of study.

Mrs. Marie G. Durand, director of the Hannah E. Mullins School, says that it has been the great desire of faculty members at the school, to see a community fund of some sort established to take care of the education of one, or perhaps two, young women each year who long to become practical nurses and appear to be suitable for the work but, because of lack of personal funds, cannot obtain the training.

"We feel that through the years, perhaps a number of good practical nurses would become available for service in the community who would not have been able to enter our training program without financial assistance," Mrs. Durand commented.

THE HANNAH E. MULLINS School has graduated 61 young women. Sixty of these passed Ohio State board examinations and are now licensed practical nurses. They are serving in various Ohio communities and in a few posts in other states.

Currently the school has 34 students, including 14 who began training in February of this year and will complete the program in February, 1962. The newest class, numbering 20 from 12 different Ohio communities, began Sept. 11.

"I speak for the faculty and myself," Mrs. Durand said, "when I say that our aim, indeed our determination, is and has been to make the training we offer second best to none other in the state. And when you realize that there are now 22 practical nursing programs in Ohio, you will understand that we have a rather sizable challenge on our hands."

"However, when we realize that these young women are the personnel who will be caring for our precious sick, we know that we can hope for nothing less than we do in their training."

The Hannah E. Mullins School of Practical Nursing is one of the 12 local agencies which will benefit directly from the 1961 United Fund Drive which opens here Oct. 3.

Kiwanians to Learn About City Charter

Atty. Bryce Kendall, a member of the Salem Charter Commission, will explain the proposed city charter when he speaks to Kiwanis Club members Thursday noon in the Memorial Building.

Robert Ellyson will introduce the speaker.

Salem Kiwanians are planning to visit the Leontia-Washingtonville club at its meeting Oct. 18.

AIMED AT SPACE—A technician makes adjustments on a new battery-powered "plasma" engine prior to space chamber tests. The engine, designed for interplanetary spaceship and satellite use, is said to be capable of running for years through solar cell recharging. It gets its thrust from the high-velocity ejection of plasma (ionized gases) through the nozzle in the center. Its builder, Republic Aviation Corp., says it is the only electrical space engine able to operate now as it will when it flies in space.

Mel McGaha Appointed to Manage Tribe

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians today replaced major league baseball's oldest manager with its youngest, naming 35-year-old Coach Mel McGaha to succeed Jimmie Dykes, who will be 65 next month. McGaha's contract was for one year.

McGaha, brought here by former General Manager Frank Lane as first base coach for the 1961 campaign, never played in the major leagues. The University of Arkansas graduate spent 11 seasons in the minors, playing several positions and mostly in the Texas League for Shreveport and Houston.

As a manager for three minor league seasons, McGaha had good success, bringing Mobile to two runnerup finishes and leading Toronto to the 1960 International League pennant.

McGaha's selection was no surprise. It had been expected several weeks. General Manager Gabe Paul gave Dykes his pink slip just before the Indians' finale in Los Angeles Sunday.

Cleveland has had a poor year in both victories and attendance. The won-lost record of 1961 is the worst in 15 years, and attendance fell off by 225,000 from 1960 to 725,000.

Dykes said Sunday that the man who will pilot the Indians next year faces "suicide." He explained the job will be "murder" because there are too many lawyers on the club.

When mid-season speculation arose that Dykes was on his way out, Paul said that—like a woman—he had the prerogative to change his mind about coaches as managerial material.

This was the second time Dykes has felt the ax from Paul. Dykes became manager for the final month of the 1958 season at Cincinnati when Birdie Tebbets was fired. Paul dropped Dykes, saying he was too old to manage. That statement became embarrassing to both men when Paul came here last May as Indians general manager.

McGaha becomes Cleveland's sixth manager in seven seasons. Al Lopez was pilot in 1956, Kerby Farrell in 1957, Bobby Bragan and Joe Gordon in 1958, Gordon in 1959 and Dykes and Gordon during the 1960 season when Cleveland and Detroit engaged in a unique managerial "trade."

College Grid Player Dies of Head Injury

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A Lebanon Valley College football player, taken to a hospital after complaining of a headache during a game Saturday, died today following emergency surgery for removal of a blood clot from his brain.

John Zola, 20, a halfback from Hazleton, Pa., died at 3:53 a.m., hospital attendants said. He had undergone surgery for removal of a blood clot shortly before midnight Saturday.

Zola's death was the second in college football ranks this year. Donald G. Foley, 19, Pasadena, Tex., a member of Navy's junior varsity squad, died last Thursday of injuries sustained in practice. There have also been 11 fatalities on high school gridirons.

participating agencies are in desperate financial straits at this time," Schaeffer said.

Dr. Dew, the main speaker at the dinner, has been with the Du Pont Company since 1924. A native of Wilmington, Del., he spent many years on chemical research and development work at Du Pont.

He also had management responsibility in ordnance plants operated by Du Pont for the government during World War II, and was later connected with the government's Manhattan Project, the Atomic Energy program.

Dr. Dew is currently an officer or director in many community organizations, including the Board of Managers of Friends School, Boy Scouts of America, Community Capital Funds, Council of Churches, Goodwill Industries and Welfare Council of Delaware. He is a brother-in-law of J. R. Stratton, Jr., of Salem.

In event of rain or cold weather, the opening dinner will be held at the Memorial Building.

A Victory Dinner is scheduled Thursday evening, Oct. 12.

Burglars Rob Akron Bank of $28,000

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The Summit County Sheriff's Office today estimated $28,000 was taken from the night deposit vault at the Norton Branch of the First National Bank in the Norton Village shopping center Saturday night. They made the estimate after completion of a preliminary inventory of night deposits.

Sheriff Robert Campbell said burglars broke in a back door, but the burglar alarm failed to go off. Stores in the center deposit regularly on Friday and Saturday night.

The Doctor Says

By DR. H. T. HYMAN

'Doing Something' Can Be Harmful At Times

Dr. Robert B. Lawson, chairman of the Department of Pediatrics at Miami University's School of Medicine, asks, "Do we physicians have to give some form of treatment to every child brought to us? Should we prescribe a medicine just because the family expects it?"

Answering his own questions, he urges restraint under at least the following circumstances: (1) when treatment may prove more harmful than the disorder itself; (2) when failure to recognize self-limited variations from the normal may lead to (unwarranted) insecurity on the part of parents; and (3) when undue emphasis on treatment may exaggerate the problem it is meant to control.

Here are some examples of what Dr. Lawson means:

In the second year of life, babies are apt to develop day-to-day swings in appetite. If vitamins and tonics are prescribed because of the parent's unwarranted concern over a normal variant, treatment may be not only unnecessary but actually harmful.

The child's continuance of the normal variant, regardless of the treatment, may cause anxious parents to lose confidence in their doctor and start on a medical "shopping tour."

Certain minor defects and variations in development tend to correct themselves without recourse to needless surgery. Illustrative of these are umbilical hernias, port wine stains, strawberry marks, tongue-tie etc. By the same token, tonsils need not be removed merely because they appear to be enlarged. And physiologic flat feet, bowlegs and knock-knees of minor degree may be corrected by the "beneficial" progress of normal growth some time before the fifth birthday.

The common viral infections of respiratory and intestinal tracts are not responsive to treatment with antibiotics. They are self-limited invasions except under unusual circumstances. "The excuse that the family demands a 'shot' or a 'mycin' does not justify the unwarranted use of potentially harmful and costly drugs."

So-called "innocent heart murmurs" are frequently encountered in early life. These must be called to the attention of the family as matters of fact. Not as threats. If restrictions are placed on the child's activities and/or the family is warned to keep a close watch on the youngster so that he doesn't "overdo," this state of oversolicitude and overprotection can only be harmful.

What Dr. Lawson is urging is normal concern and intelligent observation. Not neglect. And not a policy of therapeutic nothingness. It is his enlightened view that "the test of good medicine is to practice the art of intelligent planned neglect."

To do this, the physician should not yield to the pressure to "do something" and advocate treatment when treatment is not necessary. And may even be harmful.

Lisbon Social

St. Jacob's United Church of Christ began its month-long sesquicentennial celebration Saturday evening with an old time box social and talent show. Some 150 were present for the affair held in fellowship hall of the church.

Six-year-old Eddie Sittler opened the program with greetings, and Mary Crook, Phyllis Forney and Susan Carnes sang "Little Liza Jane".

Homer Ferguson served as the master of ceremonies and also as leader of the group singing.

Gayle Schnader sang "Calendar Girl" and accompanied herself at the piano. Marsha Ferguson presented a medley of old time songs on the clarinet.

Singing acappella, Charmaine Weaver presented "Go Tell It on the Mountain". Colene Baker and Ann Carnes played a piano duet.

STATE of Arkansas can boast of a unique distinction. It's the only state that can show its development by three state capitols—all in the same city. The Territorial Restoration, which ranks with Williamsburg and Mount Vernon in authenticity, was restored to its original condition in 1941. Oldest of the buildings there is a white frame structure which housed the last Territorial legislature in 1835. Second of Arkansas' capitols is the Old State House, which served the state until the present capitol was completed in 1910. The Old State House has been restored and houses the State Archives and Museum. The present Capitol, built from native stone and marble, was patterned after the national Capitol. Here are the three unique buildings.

Restoration of Old State House began in 1948.

This And That

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:
How much food does the average American consume in his life-time? About 100,000 pounds—or 50 tons.
Memo to JFK: President George Washington's first federal budget was written on a single sheet of paper.
We sometimes feel the price of everything is constantly going up, but there are some exceptions. Example: The first bicycle built in this country weighed 70 pounds and cost $313.
Geography lesson: Everyone knows Paris is the world's largest French-speaking city, but can you name the second largest? It is Montreal, Canada.
Color peps up the human appetite, and it also influences the appetites of some insects, too. Researchers have found that horse flies prefer red to white cattle, while ordinary stable flies, given a choice of menu, settle on black cattle.
The nation's biggest single user of pencils is the New York Stock Exchange. It buys more than a million yearly.
Burden in the bottle: Absenteeism as a result of alcoholism costs U.S. industry a billion dollars annually. The average alcoholic misses 23 work days a year.
Our quotable notables: "You never know what you can do without until you try."—Franklin Pierce Adams.
Authors don't always know what they are talking about. Jean-Jacques Rousseau, French philosopher, achieved fame with "Emile," a guide on the proper education of children. Yet when each of his own five children arrived, he promptly sent it to a foundling home!
Old remedies: U.S. frontiersmen once treated earache by sprinkling drops of genuine skunk oil into the sore ear. The real problem: First you had to catch the skunk.
Executive signs: On the desk of Irwin H. Kramer, hotel president here: "To make dreams come true, stay wide awake!"
It isn't a sign you are neurotic if you demand a quiet atmosphere in which to work. Psychologists have found neurotics usually work better amid noise. The sound distracts them from their own mental and emotional conflicts.
Definitions that stick in the mind: "Library—a do-it-yourself university."
Clever bruises: Bears don't smoke cigarettes, but they do carry their own natural filters. They often strain foreign objects out of water by drinking it through the hair on their paws.
Wisecrack of the week: "Football is played only during months containing 'rah!'"—Arnold Glasgow.
History lesson: Alf Landon carried only two states in 1936, but the most badly defeated major party presidential candidate in U.S. history was John Quincy Adams.

St. Patrick Mother's Club Plans Event

LEETONIA — The St. Patrick's Mothers Club, assisted by the other organizations of the church, will sponsor a "Sisters Tea" which will be held on Sunday, Oct. 22, from 2 to 5 p.m. in the school hall.
All women and girls of the parish are invited to attend. Instead of the canned goods, which each year helps supply the Nuns' larder, this year a cash donation is accepted so that the Sisters may be able to supplement what is needed most.
Several streets in the village were surfaced with a blade-mix last week, with the Village Council furnishing the materials and the county the labor.
John Bodnark of Struthers spent several days last week with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Neiheisel of Cherry-ford Ave.
Mr. and Mrs. Joe Robson of East Palestine spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gotthardt Sr. Lynne Del Robson returned home with them after spending the weekend with her grandparents.
James Doolin of Cleveland was a recent visitor in the home of his sister, Mrs. Jane Kegelmeyer and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Kegelmeyer.

Maris Blasts 61st Homer In Last Game Of Season

Sluggish Hits Stallard's High, Fast Ball In 4th

By JIM HACKLEMAN Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP)—A baseball was hit into the right field seats at New York's Yankee Stadium Sunday, bringing a larger measure of renown to one young man, a unique but unwanted distinction to another, and instantaneous fame to still another.

The first was Roger Maris of the New York Yankees, who hit the ball—his 61st homer this year for an all-time, one-season high. The second was rookie pitcher Tracy Stallard of the Boston Red Sox, who threw it. And the third was the fortunate fan who caught it, Sal Durante, 19, of Coney Island, Brooklyn.

Maris connected for No. 61 in the fourth inning on his second time at bat and in the final game of the regular season, bringing the American League champions a 1-0 victory. Stallard's first two deliveries were balls, high and outside, then low and inside. His next pitch was fast, a little high, and over the plate. Maris uncoiled with that mighty, fluid left-handed swing of his and rifled the ball into the lower right-field stands, a drive of about 360 feet.

Fans Fight For Ball There, fighting hard among the pack of spectators for the valuable memento, young Durante made his catch.

Despite his unprecedented total of 61, Maris, 27, does not reign as undisputed home-run king but shares the throne with the fabled Babe Ruth. Under a ruling by Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, Ruth holds the 154-game season record with his 60 in 1927. Maris' 61 will be recognized as a record for the 162-game season inaugurated by the American League this year when it expanded from 8 to 10 teams.

Stallard, 24, is a right-hander in his first full major league season. He did not seem overly perturbed at being the pitcher who yielded No. 61.

Durante was anything but blasé in his moment of glory. The truck driver-mechanic, a one-time sandlot second baseman, was quickly surrounded by policemen after making his catch and, with a firm clutch on the precious ball, was escorted under the stands to meet Maris.

For Maris, the results of home run 61 will amount to much more than records and adulation. It is estimated he will earn $300,000 in endorsements, personal appearances, and royalties in the next three years.

Maris, the physical and mental strain finally lifted, met the press for the last time in this pressure-packed season, jubilant over "the biggest home run I ever hit."

"It was great, great, great—the greatest thrill I ever had," he said.

Grant Gets 15th Victory As Tribe Wins

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Walter Bond hit his first major league grand slam home run and Jim Grant won the distance for his 15th victory as the Cleveland Indians beat the Los Angeles Angels 8-5 Sunday in their final game of the season.

Bond also hit a triple and two singles and drove in a total of five runs. His grand slam came off loser Ryne Duren in the third inning after Jack Kubiszyn singled and Ty Cline and Tito Francona walked.

The Tribe was under the direction of coach Mel Harder, who was named interim manager by General Manager Gabe Paul after Jimmie Dykes had been fired about two hours before the game. Dykes' successor is to be announced today in Cleveland.

The only regular in the lineup was Francona, who needed a couple of hits to finish at .300. He was pulled out after getting hits in his first two trips to the plate to end the season with a .301 average.

Hal Jones, rookie first baseman, also homered for the Indians, and Leon Wagner and Steve Bilko hit homers for the Angels.

Cleveland 014 010 200—8 10 0 Los Angeles 201 001 001—5 8 1 Grant and Thomas; Duren, Spring (3), Fowler (5), Morgan (8) and Rodgers, W—Grant (15-9), L—Duren (6-13).

Home runs — Cleveland, Bond (2), Jones (2), Los Angeles, Wagner (28), Bilko (20).

United Local Dumps Jackson-Milton 16-0

Marks scored the visitors' touchdowns in the second and fourth periods on a 50-yard sprint and a four yard plunge. The hard-hitting fullback ran for the extra points.

The win gives United a 2-0 Turnpike Conference mark while Jackson-Milton holds a 1-3 season record and an 0-2 loop mark.

United will be host to eBaver Local next Saturday while Jackson-Milton entertains North Lima.

Gabe Paul Officially Fires Dykes

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jimmie Dykes, fired as manager of the Cleveland Indians, says the man who will be named to pilot the club next year faces "suicide."

Dykes, given his pink slip by general manager Gabe Paul Sunday, said the new manager's job will be "murder because there are too many lawyers on the club."

The Indians are expected to announce a new manager without delay. Mel McGaha, a Cleveland coach, has been rumored as the most likely choice.

Referring to the "lawyers" on the club, Dykes added: "They've got to get rid of some of them, but who's gonna take 'em? Besides, the team needs a big rebuilding job. They need a first baseman and a second baseman. And if they get rid of (Jim) Piersall they'll need a center-fielder."

Asked whether he had any regrets, Dykes said: "Well, I'm disappointed that we didn't finish higher. This is a better club than it's shown, but those lawyers really hurt." The Indians finished in fifth place in the American League.

Nine Teams Deadlocked In NFL Race

By FRITZ HOWELL Associated Press Sports Writer CLEVELAND (AP) — The National Football League may as well start over in quest of a 1961 champion.

Nine of the 14 teams, five in the eastern conference and four in the west, are deadlocked at the top with 2-1 records. All have been beaten in the most star-spangled race the league has ever witnessed.

The Cleveland Browns threw a 1-2-3-4 punch and an unyielding defense to besmirch the Dallas Cowboys 25-7 Sunday. That moved the Browns among the elite.

Until they ran into the Browns, the Cowboys had led the loop in scoring, completed passes, aerial yardage and first downs and total yards gained. When it was over they were a deflated outfit.

Dallas gained only 26 yards the first half, 11 rushing and 15 passing. Its initial first down came in the last three minutes of the session, and in their first four tries with the ball the Cowboys failed to get outside their own 21-yard line.

The Browns were busy boys however. Lou Groza booted his fifth and sixth field goals of the season, 28 and 27 yards, and added one conversion after a poor pass had spoiled one and another was blocked.

Milt Plum passed 16 and 7 yards to Rich Kreitling for touchdowns. He completed 8 of 17 for 100 yards. Tom Watkins took over Bobby Mitchell's halfback spot for the entire game (Coach Paul Brown said the slippery footing suited him better than Mitchell) and gained 92 yards in 14 tries. Fullback Jim Brown bulled his way to 98 yards in 22 tries, and scored once.

Thus the Plum-Brown-Watkins trio gained 290 of Cleveland's 316 total yardage, and Groza put the frosting on the cake with his expert toe.

Victory was far out of reach when the Cowboys, with Don Meredith doing the slinging, moved 79 yards in 5 plays for their fourth-period score. The payoff was a seven-yard pitch to halfback Don Perkins, but by that time the Browns had it wrapped up.

Washington, a three-time loser, is Cleveland's foe next Sunday.

Lowe Wins Canfield Auto Race Finale

Another season of stock car racing came to a close at Canfield Speedway Saturday night with Kenny Lowe of Akron winning the 100-lap late model season championship.

There were 26 starters. Lowe took over the lead on the 80th lap and went on to beat out Nook Walters of Niles and Bill Forney of Youngstown, with Wimpy May of Auburn Corners fourth.

Bob James of Akron was the early leader and set the pace for 80 laps. However, a flat tire put him out of the running. The first five cars — James, Lowe, Walters, Forney and May — battled bumper-to-bumper throughout the entire race.

Two accidents marred the program, but no one was hurt. Paul Kerr of Youngstown rolled his car in the late model finale. He rolled end-for-end about four times. Bob Hoon of Youngstown flipped during an amateur heat race.

Canfield officials already are making plans for the 1962 season and the opener has been set for April 21.

Beaver Local Blanks Salineville 46-0

The Beaver Local Beavers racked up their third consecutive shut-out as they blanked Salineville 46-0 Saturday. The Beavers hold a 3-0-1 record while Salineville possesses a 0-2-1 record.

Quarterback Mike Klembara scored once and tossed passes to end Gary Berhar for two more TD's to lead the Beavers attack. Halfback Carl Hoppel added two more touchdowns.

Beaver Local will travel to United to battle the powerful Golden Eagles next Saturday, while Salineville will play at Stanton Local.

Beaver Local 14 8 16-46 Salineville 0 0 0-0 Beaver—Hoppel 11, run (run failed). Beaver—Hoppel 1, run (Klembara run). Beaver—Klembara 1, run (Broadbent run). Pee Wee Reese played on more losing World Series teams than any big leaguer in history. He was with the Brooklyn Dodgers when they were humiliated six times.

SPRINGFIELD-WEST BRANCH GAME—Springfield's Jon Richey (63) and John Hitchcock (51) bring down West Branch quarterback Chuck Wilson in the last half of Saturday's game that saw the Warriors defeat Springfield 28-12. Other gridders pictured are Bill Clever (76), Ron Wire (20) and Dick McPherson (62) of Springfield.

Wallace Roms For Three TD's

West Branch Rolls Past Springfield Local 28-12

By LYNN BROWNE News Sports Writer

Coach Ralph Zurbrugg's West Branch grabbed their third season win in four tries by drubbing Springfield Local 28-12 Saturday night in Salem's Reilly Stadium.

The win gives West Branch a 2-0 record in the Turnpike Conference, while hapless Springfield, last year's cellar-dwellers, possess an 0-2 loop record and a 1-3 season mark.

Although all of West Branch's backs ran well, senior halfback Norm Wallace stole the show as he scored three of the Warrior's four TD's and had another called back on a penalty. Fullback Tom Rill accounted for the other Warrior score.

Even though the Warriors defensive unit held the Tigers to only 26 yards rushing in the first half, Coach Zurbrugg was displeased because he felt his gridders let down defensively in the second half. Springfield racked up 153 yards in the last half.

The Warriors had no trouble moving on the ground. Fleet-footed West Branch backs scampered for 396 yards, 288 in the first half and 178 in the last.

COMMENTING ON the game, Zurbrugg indicated that he believes his offense is beginning to click but feels that too many mistakes are made defensively.

The game, a "knock 'em down, drag 'em out" type battle, saw 130 yards in penalties metered.

Crestview Wins First; Surprises Zips 16-6

Coach Dave Habeger's Crestview Rebels copped their first win of the year by dumping North Lima 16-6 at Crestview Saturday.

Crestview and North Lima both held 1-3 records.

Edgar Campbell and Gary Kannel lugged the ball into paydirt for the winners. Roger Cooley banged across from the four yard line for North Lima's only score.

Next week the Rebels will entertain McDonald's Blue Devils while North Lima travels to Jackson-Milton.

out, with many coming on personal fouls committed by over-zealous players. West Branch drew five penalties for 45 yards while Springfield gave up 85 yards on 11 infractions.

Excitement came early in the game as Springfield's senior halfback Ron Wire took the opening kickoff on his own 15-yard line and scampered to the West Branch 33 before the Warriors quarterback and kickoff artist Chuck Wilson brought him down.

Springfield was unable to get a drive going though and Wire punted into the end zone to give the Warriors possession on their own 20.

On the first play from scrimmage Warrior halfback Norm Wallace brought the crowd to its feet once more as he twisted his way for 60 yards to Springfield's 20.

However, the ball changed hands again before Wallace exploded over his left tackle for his first score with 2:23 left in the first period. The play covered one yard. Fullback Tom Rill was short on his attempted run for the extra points. Highlighting the 41-yard touchdown drive was a 26-yard jaunt by little 145-pound halfback Dave Knoedler.

JUST FOUR plays after the start of the second stanza Wallace boomed off right tackle for his second TD to move the Warriors ahead 12-0. A pass for the extra points fell incomplete.

Wallace scored his final tally with just 1:32 left in the half. The burly back hit off left tackle on a quick — opener and sprinted 24 yards for the score. A pass from Wilson to left end Bill Bedell accounted for the extra points.

A recovered fumble by Tiger tackle, sophomore Jon Richey, and a roughing-the-kicker penalty gave Springfield a first-and-ten on the Warriors 43-yard line early in the third quarter. Just three plays later Springfield's quarterback Don Rauch kept the ball and went up the middle on a 33-yard touchdown excursion.

West Branch came back to score late in the third period. Rill capped a 67-yard drive as he swept right end and scampered 33 yards for the score. He then added the extra points on a plunge over right tackle.

Springfield took the next kickoff and marched 78 yards in 17 plays for the last TD of the game. The longest run of the drive was a 31-yard sprint by Don Wyant to the Warrior's 45, just two plays before the game entered the final period. Rauch scored from two yards out on a quarterback sneak.

FICTION

VIRGO DESCENDING by Thomas Duncan. The author of Gus the Great writes about a western story author who falls in love with a beautiful blonde from the Virgin Islands. This is the beginning of many complications, all pretty well told.

THE GRASSHOPPER HEART by P. B. Abercrombie. Two British couples are friendly, but each envies the other. One husband makes too little money, the other is prone to extra-marital romances. The tangles the four get into make for a lot of interest and fun.

JUDGES OF THE SECRET COURT by David Stacton. A highly dramatic novel made from the assassination of Abraham Lincoln and its effect on the various members of the Booth family.

BEST AMERICAN SHORT STORIES, 1961, edited by Martha Foley and David Burnett. The editors have selected what they consider the top twenty best short stories which have appeared in magazines during the past year. The majority are from magazines the average person seldom sees. THE WHITE WOLF by Max Brand. Although this popular Western author has been dead since 1944, he was such a prolific writer that there is still material to be published. This tale concerns a man who wanted to breed a perfect bull terrier.

Five Men Fined for Disorderly Conduct

LISBON — Five Lisbon area men were fined at hearings Sunday before Mayor Dean Stockman for disorderly conduct following altercations Saturday evening and early Sunday morning.

Ward Greasel, Jordonville, was fined $25 and costs for disorderly conduct in a local tavern early Sunday morning after he allegedly struck his wife. Placed in a cell with Joe Edward, Washington, Pa., Greasel then became involved in a fight with Edward, tore his clothing and the blankets on his bunk. Greasel subsequently was fined $100 and costs for destruction of property by Mayor Stockman.

Henry Dillinger, James Dillinger, William Dillinger and Donald Meeks, all of S. Market St., were each fined $25 and costs after they were cited Saturday at 10:30 p.m. for disorderly conduct at the Lions Clubs street fair.

THE PAST EMERGES — Buried for nearly 2,000 years, the ancient Roman town of Herculaneum comes to light again as archaeologists uncover the forum and archway that was the city's center. Like nearby Pompeii, Herculaneum was destroyed when Mt. Vesuvius erupted in 79 A.D. Most of the old town is covered by the modern city of Resina. Ruins in background are slums torn down to reach the ancient city.

Let's talk about vitamins

Vitamins are the one product you must take on faith. You can't see them, taste them or smell them. That's why it's doubly important always to buy vitamins in a DRUG store, where you have specialists to advise you and where you are assured of getting full value for your money. (Some non-drug-store outlets, you know, charge from four to ten times as much for vitamins of the same potency your pharmacist offers.) So, get the very good habit of buying all health items at a DRUG store—this one.
